My Worksheets:

I am a computer engineering student at Sakarya University. Originally from Iran, I have been teaching English for the last two years. In addition to teaching, my interests include expanding my knowledge in programming, with a particular focus on developing web applications. Additionally, I love engaging in outdoor sports such as running and hiking. As an extrovert, I enjoy meeting people and socializing, which fuels my passion for teaching. Being trilingual, I strive to transfer my knowledge to students effectively and continually aim to improve my teaching skills.
